December 2012

Dear Colleague,

I am pleased to present Arrests in Wisconsin 2011. This report, prepared by the Office of Justice Assistance's Wisconsin Justice Information Center (WIJIC), is a collection of arrest data reported by Wisconsin law enforcement agencies in the previous year. It is based on monthly reports submitted to OJA through the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program. We greatly appreciate the continued efforts of personnel from the more than 400 contributing agencies in the collection and reporting of this important information.

This report contains detailed information on arrest volume and trends for law enforcement agencies throughout the State of Wisconsin. In addition, it provides information on arrests for five separate crime categories: Violent, Property, Drug, Society, and Other. It is separated into three main sections: all arrests, adult arrests, and juvenile arrests. For each crime type, a series of tables are provided to show volume and trends.

Since 2010, OJA has published this report solely online. The FBI's annual report, Crime in the United States, has demonstrated the benefits of internet dissemination for easier and more widespread distribution. This move to electronic formats allows OJA to maximize its limited resources, while continuing to provide useful and valuable data to the public.

Some of the more important findings are summarized at the beginning of the report (pg. 4). Major findings include a 5% decrease in overall arrests, with a 1% increase in violent and a 1% decrease in property arrests. In addition, drug arrests decreased by 1%, while arrests for crimes against society decreased by 8% and other uncategorized offenses decreased by 3%.

I hope this report continues to meet your needs. OJA seeks to improve its statistical reporting procedures, as well as implement new and innovative ways to make this information available to the public. Should you have any suggestions or comments regarding this report, I encourage you to contact us with your feedback.

Sincerely,

John Murray
Executive Director

Introduction

As mandated by the Wisconsin Legislature (Wis. Stat. § 16.964(1)(g)), the Wisconsin Office of Justice Assistance (OJA) is responsible for reporting information concerning the number and nature of criminal offenses known to have been committed in the state. This includes collecting crime and arrest data from over 400 separate law enforcement agencies for the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting Program (a nationwide cooperative statistical effort of more than 17,000 law enforcement agencies voluntarily reporting data on crime). The primary objective of UCR is to generate reliable information for use in law enforcement administration, operation, and management. Today, the American public looks to the Uniform Crime Reports for information on fluctuations in the level of crime, while criminologists, sociologists, legislators, municipal planners, the media, and other students of criminal justice use the statistics for varied research and planning purposes.

This report, prepared by the OJA Wisconsin Justice Information Center (WIJIC), is a collection of arrest data reported by Wisconsin law enforcement agencies in 2011. It contains detailed information on arrest volume and trends for law enforcement agencies throughout the State of Wisconsin. In addition, it provides information on arrests for five separate crime categories: Violent, Property, Drug, Society, and Other. The report also includes a breakdown of arrests by adults and juveniles.

A. Background

The Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program was first initiated in 1930 by the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP). Recognizing a need for national crime statistics, IACP formed the Committee on Uniform Crime Records. The committee evaluated various crimes on the basis of their seriousness, frequency of occurrence, pervasiveness in all geographic areas of the country, and likelihood of being reported to law enforcement. After studying state criminal codes and making an evaluation of the recordkeeping practices in use, the Committee identified seven main classifications known as Part I crimes. The seven offense classifications include the violent crimes of murder and non-negligent manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, and the property crimes of burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft. By congressional mandate, arson was added as the eighth Part I offense category in 1979. Agencies classify and score these offenses according to a hierarchy rule in which, in cases with more than one offense, only the most severe offense is counted.

During the early planning of the program, it was recognized that the differences among criminal codes precluded a mere aggregation of state statistics to arrive at a national total. Further, because of the variances in punishment for the same offenses in different state codes, no distinction between felony and misdemeanor crimes was possible. To avoid these problems and provide nationwide uniformity in crime reporting, standardized offense definitions were formulated by which law enforcement agencies were to submit data without regard for local statutes.

Introduction

The UCR program, as originally designed, remained virtually unchanged in terms of the amount and type of data collected and disseminated for nearly 60 years. Yet by the 1980s, it had become clear that the nature of law enforcement investigations and reporting had changed dramatically since the inception of the program. As a result, the FBI initiated a thorough evaluation of the existing system with the purpose of formulating a phased-in redesign effort to enable the program to meet the needs of law enforcement into the 21st century.

Based upon the recommendations of the evaluation, the FBI developed a new system known as the National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS). Unlike the aggregate summary-based system, NIBRS is designed to collect all components of a crime, including characteristics of the offense and its associated victims, offenders, property, and arrestees. In 1998, the FBI released the final data elements and offense specifications of the new system. At that time, Wisconsin and other state programs began their efforts to implement this enhanced reporting system.

Today, the state has just over 320 law enforcement agencies participating in Summary-Based Reporting (commonly referred to as UCR) and 80 agencies participating in Incident-Based Reporting (IBR) including the Milwaukee Police Department. Nationally, 45 states participate, or plan to participate, in the IBR program. Of those states, 13 have 100% participation rate from their local law enforcement agencies. Due to the increased reporting requirements of the new program, OJA is implementing it in phases to allow law enforcement agencies the time and resources needed to acquire the necessary technological capabilities. As the State of Wisconsin moves forward with the implementation of this data collection program, a number of additional agencies will be submitting IBR data in 2011. For a list of current certified and testing IBR agencies, please visit the OJA website.

B. Format & Structure

Due to the changing landscape of statistical information dissemination and available resources, in 2010 the Statistical Analysis Center—the precursor to the Wisconsin Justice Information Center—followed the lead of the FBI and their annual report, Crime in the United States, by discontinuing all printed versions of this publication to focus exclusively on internet technology for future distributions. This allows the agency to maximize its limited resources, while continuing to provide useful and valuable data to a broad audience.

With regard to structure, the report is separated into three main sections: all arrests, adult arrests, and juvenile arrests. Within each of these sections, data are further broken down by crime types (for definitions, see the Appendix). For each crime type, a series of figures and tables are provided to show statistical information.

C. Limitations

As presented by the FBI in their annual report, Crime in the United States, adequate assessment of criminality and law enforcement's response from jurisdiction to jurisdiction requires the consideration of many different variables, some of which are not readily measurable or applicable among all locales. Geographic and demographic factors specific to each jurisdiction must be considered and applied if one is going to make an accurate and complete assessment of crime in that jurisdiction. Understanding a jurisdiction's industrial/economic base; its dependence upon neighboring jurisdictions; its transportation system; and its economic dependence on nonresidents such as tourists all contribute to accurately gauging and interpreting the crime known to and reported by law enforcement. It is incumbent upon all data users to become as well educated as possible about how to understand and quantify the nature and extent of crime as reported by law enforcement agencies through the UCR program. Valid assessments are possible only with careful study and analysis of the various unique conditions affecting each local law enforcement jurisdiction.

Specific to this report, caution should be taken when comparing the results to other previous annual reports. First, shifting of a law enforcement agency from one population category to another based on annual re-estimation of the jurisdiction's population may have an affect on rates. Second, this report reflects offenses that were reported to law enforcement agencies in 2011 but may have occurred during previous years. Finally, changes to law enforcement policies and procedures and their effect on crime rates must also be taken into consideration.

Arrests in Wisconsin

Between 2010 and 2011, the State of Wisconsin experienced a 5% decrease in the number of overall arrests. The number of violent arrests increased by 1%, while the number of property arrests decreased by over 1%. In addition, drug arrests decreased by 1%, while society arrests decreased by 8%, and other uncategorized offenses decreased by 3%. Below are the major findings from each of the five individual crime categories.

- Juvenile arrests for crimes against property decreased by 3%.
- Adults arrested for crimes against property increased by 0.5%.

Drug

- In 2011, Wisconsin law enforcement made 25,490 drug arrests, down 1% from 2010.
- Juvenile drug arrests decreased by 6% in 2011.
- Adult arrests for drug offenses decreased by 1%.

Society

- In 2011, Wisconsin law enforcement made 128,994 arrests for society crime, down 8% from 2010 and continuing the downward trend over the past four years.
- Juvenile arrests for crimes against society decreased by 7%.
- Adult arrests for crimes against society decreased by 9%.

Other

- In 2011, Wisconsin law enforcement made 123,411 arrests for crimes classified as other, down 3% from 2010.
- Adults were arrested at a higher volume and higher rate than juveniles in 2010.
- Juvenile arrests for crimes classified as other decreased by 1%.
- Adult arrests for crimes classified as other decreased by 3%.

UCR DEFINITIONS

Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) definitions were developed to provide a common language with which to measure crime in the United States. In an effort to normalize differences between varying state statutes, these definitions were purposefully designed to be broad translations of offense types. Accordingly, the offense definitions in the UCR Program are based on the common-law definitions found in the Black's Law Dictionary, the Program's 1932 Standard Classification of Offenses, and the National Crime Information Center's Uniform Offense Classifications. Below is a list of those examined in this report:

VIOLENT

Aggravated Assault: An unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault usually is accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm.

Forcible Rape: The carnal knowledge of a female forcibly and against her will.

Murder: The willful (non-negligent) killing of one human being by another.

Robbery: The taking or attempted taking of anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear.

Fraud: The intentional perversion of the truth for the purpose of inducing another person or other entity in reliance upon it to part with something of value or to surrender a legal right. Fraudulent conversion and obtaining of money or property by false pretenses.

Motor Vehicle Theft: The theft or attempted theft of a motor vehicle.

Stolen Property: Buying, Receiving, Possessing: Buying, receiving, possessing, selling, concealing, or transporting any property with the knowledge that it has been unlawfully taken, as by burglary, embezzlement, fraud, larceny, robbery, etc.
